Join the Conversation Timing of ARCH looks to come into play in Saturday's game For the second time this season, Southwestern Oklahoma City returns from a disappointing late-season loss to ask "what if" in games that came down to the wire. Saturday's game against the Lady Broncos (2-4) looks like a game the Lady Panthers (4-2) could have won had they taken their chances, but they came up short once again. "We had 'what ifs' in both of our losses this year," Panther coach and head-football-officials-to-be Clayton Conarroe said Tuesday. "The first one, it was the Longview game. We had a chance to win it in the fourth quarter, but we failed to do it. Then we had the losing streak." Conarroe said the game was a nail-biter that ended with a 50-47 loss. Although the Lady Broncos fell short, they entered the game with the momentum of a four-game winning streak. The loss snaps Southwestern Oklahoma's streak of five consecutive victories over

Price:$4.99 File type:exe File size: 996 KB EZ Screen Capture Description Thanks for your input and I think the tool is rather useful. For me, the only limitation is the 1 day trial. I'd like it to be extended to a lifetime or at least 3 months. That is the only issue I found with it. The trial was only 1 day. Yes, it is a very useful tool, but it should be made available for more use. The other limitation is that it doesn't allow to include the saved file in a Word document. Share This is a great indoor exercise with a bit of variety. It is great for people that live in winter climates or when they are sick. Play-Doh vs. No-Skewer: I've been sending my students back to their rooms (or directly to bed) for being in the hallway for about ten minutes, or for being tardy in class. They've been told that they will have a short mindfulness meditation and then be sent to their room. They were given an hour to get started so that I could go get ready for the next class. I'm a task person and if I had that much time, I
